Summers last bloom?

The recent cold weather has not bothered these jumping jacks growing in front of The Daily Standard. Planted in early July, they've grown up a telephone pole and now reach over six feet. They'll stop growing soon. Today is the last day of Summer. Fall begins Saturday. (Daily Standard photo by Ron Porter)

Food costs lead huge price rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices jumped 1.8 per cent in August, the sharpest rate of increase in 26 years, the government reported today. The biggest one-month jump in food prices since 1917 was to blame.

The rise in over-all consumer prices was 1.8 per cent unadjusted and 1.9 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis, both the highest since September 1947.

The Labor Department said surging prices for meats, poultry and eggs accounted for about 80 per cent of the steep rise in the Consumer Price Index last month.

Consumer food prices leaped a record 6 per cent in August, more than in any month since the 9.6 per cent increase in April 1917.

Government economists had predicted the disastrous price report for August following the record-breaking boost in wholesale prices recorded earlier following the removal of price restraints.

A price freeze that began June 13 ended for food on July 18 and for almost everything else on Aug. 12.

Food prices included in the index were collected between Aug. 7-9 and prices for other items were collected throughout the month, the government said.

Nonfood items jumped five-tenths of one per cent after seasonal adjustment, slightly above the average for recent months. The cost of services, soared seven-tenths of one per cent, the largest monthly rise in nearly three years, and was due primarily to increases in mortgage interest rates, the department said.

The figure showed that the prices of food purchased in grocery stores increased more in August than in any other month since World War I, surpassing even the inflationary post World War II surge.

Grocery prices were up 7.4 per cent unadjusted and 7.7 per cent on an adjusted basis, the highest since the government began keeping records on a seasonally adjusted basis in 1946.

The government said most of the August increase was due to unusually sharp advances in poultry, eggs and pork.

Beef and veal prices also rose sharply even though the freeze on red meat prices was not lifted until early in September.

Prices also rose for bread, milk and most other food items except fresh fruit and vegetables.

Americans also paid more to eat out, with the cost of restaurant meals and snacks rising 1.1 per cent.

With the August report, consumer prices have risen at an annual rate of 10 per cent over the past six months and 7.5 per cent over the past year.

The August jump in consumer prices pushed the overall consumer price index to 135.1, meaning that it cost consumers $13.51 to buy a variety of goods that cost $10 in the 1967 base period.

A sampling of prices showed that meats, poultry and fish rose 16.6 per cent from July to August and were 40.7 per cent higher than a year ago.

Accused Ellison slayer apprehended in Chicago

James "Peterboy" Harrington, 24, sought for two years in connection with the Sept. 19, 1971 slaying of Kenneth Lee Ellison, was apprehended Thursday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Chicago, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Steve Taylor announced today.

Ellison, 22 years old at the time of his death, was shot and killed in Sunset Addition.

According to police, Ellison was shot once in the chest with a .38 -caliber pistol while participating in a dice game on Felker Street near the Sunset Addition Community Club.

Witnesses to the shooting said Ellison and a companion, Allen Wheeler, had been in the club earlier and joined the dice game when they left the club.

The assailant walked up behind Ellison once the game was in progress and told the group of men to stand up. Witnesses said the man told the men he was a police officer before he ordered them to rise.

Ellison hesitated and the assailant shoved him on the back of the head and again ordered him to rise. Ellison stood, observers said, and turned to face the man when the shot was fired. Ellison was dead on arrival at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

After firing the shot, witnesses said the assailant walked away. No one gave chase.

Police said Ellison was armed with a small caliber pistol but did not display or draw his weapon. No words were exchanged between the two, and police found no motive for the killing.

One source said the apparent motive was theft. The assailant reportedly knew Ellison had the pistol and one witness said the gunman wanted the weapon and was using the guise of a police officer to steal the pistol from Ellison. The chrome-plated gun was not

8 hurt in accidents

Eight persons were injured in area traffic accidents Thursday and early today, according to the highway patrol.

A two- car accident at 3:30 p.m. five miles west of Steele on Highway 164 resulted in injuries to five persons.

The mishap occurred when a northbound car driven by Augusta Moss, 52, of Poplar Bluff failed to yield to a car driven east by Mary Evalyn Gilmore, 26, of Braggadocio. The Moss car pulled into the path of the Gilmore car which then struck the Moss car in the left front.

Injured in the Moss car were the driver, who received cuts on the left ankle; M. L. Redditt, 74, of Poplar Bluff, cuts on right leg; and Susie Payne, 70, of Neelyville, cuts on right knee. Injured in the Gilmore car were the driver, whose right wrist was injured, and a passenger, Jackie Lou West, 27, of Steele, who received cuts on the forehead. They were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

At 11:15 a.m. on an unmarked gravel road four miles east of Charleston, Clyde Eugene Woodworth, 21, of Anniston received a possible lower back injury

Tom Nunn is fired

Dexter gets new police chief

DEXTER — Sanders Walpole, 53, a five- year veteran of the police force was named chief of police at a heated joint meeting of the City Council and police department Thursday night.

The council offered to reduce former Chief Tom Nunn's position to that of patrolman, but Nunn refused. Walpole's first official act as the new chief was to fire Nunn and accept the resignations of three policemen, Robert Grubbs, David Townsend and Danny Brewer, and city dispatcher Joyce Ledbetter.

Grubbs, Townsend and Brewer said this morning that they offered their resignation because they felt Nunn had been given a "dirty deal" and if this could happen to him "it could surely happen to them."

They also stated that they would have been unable to work under the new chief of police.

They stated that Walpole told them when they submitted their resignations, "I'm glad you decided to do this it will save me the trouble of firing you later on."

In a news release this morning, Mayor Willis Conner stated that after arriving back in Dexter, following his hospitalization in New York for several weeks, some of the aldermen came to his house and made serious charges about incidents that had occurred in the police department during his absence.

They further stated that Nunn seemed unable to cope with the problems and the police department was getting out of control again.

Conner stated that he met with Nunn on Monday, and Nunn brought some serious charges against some members of the board of aldermen, particularly some members of the police committee.

Nunn said they were interfering with his business of running the police department. Conner said Nunn stated that they had had several run-ins and added that statements were made that he would be fired.

The mayor informed Nunn he had talked with some of the aldermen and that they had brought serious charges against him. He also informed Nunn that any four aldermen could dismiss or demote any city employe.

The mayor said that since most of the problems had occurred during the six weeks he was gone, he was in no position to make any decision on the matter, and the board of aldermen would have to direct him.

All six aldermen voted for a change in the office of police chief and decided upon the person for him to appoint.

Two held for theft

Ralph Vinson, 20 of 242 Daniel, and Charles Sisson, 27, Dunn Hotel, were being held in city jail this morning for investigation of stealing over $50 Wednesday from Jolly Cab Co.

Both men surrendered to police at the police station about 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Vinson was a dispatcher for Jolly Cab and Sisson a cab driver. They disappeared early Wednesday morning while on duty. Police, called to the Jolly Cab office in the Dunn Hotel after their disappearance, discovered a .22- caliber pistol missing, along with a money changer containing $15 and a bank bag with $100 in cash.

Other arrests announced today included:

Floyd H. Murray, 728 Matthews, no city sticker; Larry J. Wall, 104 Linda, careless and imprudent driving; Betty Jo Choate, 318 Moore, speeding; and Doyle W. Noe, 917 Alexander, speeding.

Beck is held for selling stolen cars

DEXTER — Stoddard County Deputy Sheriff Helen Triplett said today that Limon Beck of St. Louis is being held in Kirkwood jail to be returned to Stoddard County to face charges regarding selling of stolen merchandise to car dealers in Dexter.

The Dexter dealers purchased the cars in St. Louis not knowing they were stolen and resold them to area individuals. All of the cars have been recovered.

Lea re-elected chairman

MALDEN — Pat Lea of Sikeston was re- elected chairman of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission and the Bootheel Economic Development Council at a meeting Thursday night.

Other officers elected were L. F. Wheeler of Miner, vice chairman and R. J. Dirks of Malden, secretary-treasurer. They will serve two-year terms.

Dr. John Wellace of Jefferson City, director of the Bureau of Emergency Medical Services in the State Department of Health, explained the Senate bill pertaining to the state ambulance program.

Dr. Wallace told the 65-70 persons attending that the state is not going to force funeral homes out of the ambulance business, but indirectly they may have to quit because of the law. He added that about 90 per cent of the funeral directors were looking for a way to get out of the ambulance business anyway.

He said that the County Court was really the only logical group to come up with a system.

He endorsed a plan the planning commission has developed for ambulances to operate from the hospitals.

He estimated that personnel for the system would cost around $60,000. He added that if the system was tied to the hospital, the attendants could also be employed in the hospital, thus eliminating dead time between calls.

Several area funeral home directors were present to discuss the situation in a question and answer session which followed.

Also present at the meeting was Ronald B. Booker of Leachville, Ark., present of Wasteco Service Corp., who spoke on the consummate waste disposal system. This system involves collecting solid waste, burning it and converting it into steam heat for buildings.

While most of us aren't aware of it, the U. S. and Russia (with all the talk of warmer relations) are spying on each other as avidly as at the height of the cold war.

This espionage has been stepped up sharply in the past six months. It is carried out largely by "spy in the sky satellites" that have stripped away most of the last vestiges of each nation's military secrets.

Neither can hold maneuvers, test a new weapon, launch a ship or transfer arms to another country without the other country's knowing about it almost immediately.

There are satellites that detect missile silos, record military communications, monitor nuclear bursts in the atmosphere, count warplanes, track the flight of rockets, make weather reports, assess the health of crops and inventory the resources of any nation in the world.

During the past five years, Russia has routinely placed about 30 reconnaissance satellites into orbit annually.

The U. S. average over the same period has been around four. U. S. satellites, according to experts, are more sophisticated and longer- lived than those of the U.S.S.R.

It is now apparent that spy-in-the sky operations prepared both President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev for their June summit meeting with a staggering array of facts about each other's military capability.

Maybe this is the reason Liz and Burton split. A recent article in the show-biz weekly, Variety, is captioned: "Multi-Millionaire Richard Burton A Red At Heart." Burton, according to Variety, told a press conference of Soviet journalists in Moscow that "I am a Communist at heart." "In my opinion, there have been two great experiments," said Burton, naming both the American and Soviet revolutions. The first failed, he insisted, and "I am still awaiting the outcome of your Soviet experiment." Burton said that Marx and Thomas Jefferson had ideas in common and that he had faith that communism would "cure the social and economic desease of mankind."

LOCKHEED LOAN
TURNS OUT O.K.

Ralph Nader called it a "massive corporate welfare scheme." The consumer advocate was echoed on the floor of Congress, where various critics warned that it marked the beginning of a "parade of private industry" lining up for federal handouts.

They were talking about the government's decision in 1971 to "cosign" a financial shot in the arm to the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which was caught in a bind because of the collapse of Britain's famed Rolls Royce, supplier of engines for Lockheed's wide- bodied L-1011 jetliner.

None of these dire predictions has come anywhere near true.

From the inception of the bank loan guarantee (a government guarantee, not a government loan) in August of 1971 through the middle of this year, Lockheed has paid nearly $6 million in fees to the Emergency Loan Guarantee Board under the terms of its commitment. This year it has held drawdowns under the loan guarantee to $20 million.

Lockheed has recorded profits for 10 consecutive quarters. Virtually all its programs are making money, except for the L-1011, whose sales are being booked at zero profit. So far, 39 of the planes have been delivered, with another 17 to be delivered before the end of 1973.

The Emergency Loan Guarantee Board, created by the 1971 legislation, reports that it is unaware of any other situations requiring government loan guarantees. Because of this, it is recommending to Congress that it be allowed to go out of existence on schedule at the end of this year.

COMPETITION

It is increasingly apparent that the best answers to many of our social and economic problems will not be found in new government programs, but in stimulating business competition and growth.

For example, better railroads and other forms of mass transportation competing with the automobile will be better than the over- regulation we have had by well- meaning, but not omniscient commissions and bureaus.

Food and other products will have stable prices only when government controls and quotas are modified to allow maximum production to boost supplies and to encourage more active sales competition in the marketplace.

The growing energy crisis results from government over-regulation of existing sources and the opposition which has slowed the development of nuclear power and delayed its energence as a truly competitive means of obtaining energy.

The public has always benefited most when the profit and loss market system functions freely and when government regulation is limited to assuring fair play.

SEE TAX RECEIPTS
EQUAL TO $5,070
PER HOUSEHOLD

Total government (Federal, state and local) tax collections in fiscal 1973, estimates Tax Foundation, Inc., will be the equivalent of $5,070 per American household, up $2,670 since 1960 when they equalled $2,400 per household.

Total tax collections in fiscal 1960 amounted to over $126 billion, while in fiscal 1973 they are estimated at $339 billion.

Federal government tax receipts alone for fiscal 1974 (beginning July 1), the private research organization estimates, will be over $3,600 per household.

These increases reflect a sharp rise in total government spending, according to the Foundation. The tax figures by government level and on a per household basis are given below:

PLEDGE TO FLAG IS INTENT, NOT FACT

The U. S. Supreme Court has upheld the righ of a public schoolteacher to remain silent during the Pledge of Allegiance in her classroom.

Mrs. Susan Russo, a high school art teacher who had been dismissed from her job in a suburb of Rochester, N. Y., has refused to give the pledge because she considered its assurance of liberty and justice for all to be "hypocritical."

This was not the first time that mandatory recitation of the pledge has been challenged as a matter of conscience, nor will it be the last, though from now on one will have to go to court about it.

A few weeks ago, Ohio Rep. Thomas M. Bell became the first legislator in that state's history to vote against a routine resolution which has House members pledge allegiance to the flag on the first day of every weekly session.

Bell, who at 24 is the youngest member of the Ohio General Assembly, stated that despite the vote he would join his colleagues in the recitation but that he remained "opposed to making a mockery of my country's sacred documents by continually reciting a pledge that we continue to violate."

Now no doubt many Americans recite the pledge to the flag thoughtless, even hypocritcally. But its words were never meant to be a statement of fact, but of intent — a promise made by the founders of the nation which each succeeding generation renews.

It may be asked when, if ever, there will be liberty and justice for all — assuming we can even agree on a definition of these words that would satisfy all. Should we put the pledge on the shelf pending the arrival of Utopia?

Mrs. Russo and Mr. Bell, at least, seem to have found a degree of liberty and justice in this imperfect land.

NEW SPACE
RETRIEVER GRABS
ORBITING JUNK

A new satellite retrieval package has been designed to capture space pollution out of orbit. There are about 2,600 objects now orbiting the earth, cast- off rocket stages, payloads, adapters, and satellites that no longer work, according to Dr. Marshall Kaplan of Pennsylvania State University.

The proposed space package would consist of a huge metal ring (14 feet across) attached to a tender bearing the brains of the retriever. TV cameras on the tender would align the retriever with its target's axis of spin, and optical devices would show how fast the target was spinning.

By remote control the ring would be rotated until it was spinning as fast as the target. Four mechanical arms would reach out and capture the target, which would be despun and returned to the shuttle for docking. Retrieved satellites might be repaired and returned to orbit. Or retrorockets might be attached to stop them so they would fall into the earth's atmosphere and burn up.

OUR DEATH - DENYING SOCIETY

Why is dying different now? People have the same kind of unconscious thoughts and fantasies that they had years ago. What has changed is our society, which has become increasingly death- denying. Half of our patients now die in hospitals, as compared to 50 years ago when people died at home in a familiar environment with a little bit of chicken soup instead of transfusions, with their families around them instead of interns, residents, and laboratory technicians.

People who are dying in a hospital are attached to several pieces of monitoring equipment and we physicians pay a lot of attention to these gadgets. Sometimes we feel very uncomfortable when a dying patient looks at us and would like to ask a question about dying or some unfinished business or fears and fantasies.

In Switzerland, there is no embalming. In Switzerland, they do not have drive-in funeral homes such as we are beginning to have in the U. S. where you drive up in your sports car, look through a glass window, sign a guest book. and take off. All of this is an attempt to deny that people die. We have a society where we deep-freeze people and promise at high cost to defrost them in 50 or 100 years. We have had questions from widows about whether they are eligible for social security, of if they are allowed to get married again. In this way, people use denial that their next of kin are really dead.

H. L. Hunt

LOOKING BACK

Autumn will shortly be upon us. It is the season of harvest when man reaps from the good earth the things he has planted. Unfortunately, we are still reaping a bad political crop as the result of our misdeeds in months and years past. There is the odor of Watergate still permeating the national picture, and our national economic plight is far from good. Deficit financing continues to fire the boiler of inflation. Food shortages still beset the housewife. The problems simply are not going away unless we do something about them.

The first order of business should be to reestablish confidence in government. Let the courts clean up the Watergate mess, and in the process the chips should be allowed to fall where they may. If Congressional action is necessary to correct election law abuses, it should be forthcoming. Price controls should be phased out, not rephased. Merchants have predicted for some time that the market place will adjust itself if the controls are lifted. More products in the market will adjust prices downward. Some correction can be made in the national debt through economy. That means government economy via trimming the fat. A sound place to start would be the elimination of foreign aid which the Senate has been prone to do for some time but simply has been bamboozled into voting more funds.

With all of our problems, the Republic is still a powerful nation and the best place in the world to live. We can make it even better. Many citizens forget that their Congressmen would like to hear complaints and praise. Perhaps this autumn is a good time to take up to pen and paper. HLH

Kennedy in Dilemma: Teamsters' Fitz Vetoes Scoop Jackson As Power Labor Chiefs Build Him for '76

WASHINGTON — During the hours the Democratic party went "public" via telethon, George McGovern topped his senatorial colleagues -- the presidential frontrunners -- by delivering two speeches instead of one. No political favoritism, this.

Fact is, the esoteric chap from South Dakota read the wrong one the first time. The script was someone else's but he realized it only when he was on camera. And no one argues with the tube.

McGovern had come along, picked up his speech, skimmed it, put it down -- in the wrong slot. As his broadcast began, he realized the cue cards were not his. But he read them anyway. Later, simmering, he insisted on broadcasting his own.

But the others such as Ted Kennedy and Scoop Jackson took the stridency in stride. They'll have more than equal time and before more powerful audiences at that.

In a fashion, for example, they're bumping him from the stage of the nation's most consistently powerful political force. Namely, the 2,000-delegate AFL- CIO biennial national convention in Bal Harbour, Fla. Few recall that back in 1971, at the same convention on the same second day, McGovern followed Richard Nixon on the conclave's podium and predicted that the President would lose in '72, would retire to San Clemente; that Spiro Agnew would be back in Baltimore, and John Connally would be mired in Austin, Tex.

Now Kennedy and Jackson, or vice versa, are scheduled to address the gathering of the nation's most powerful labor chiefs -- and on the "second day" (Oct. 19, 1973). Many insiders believe this could be the ticket in '76. Not exactly in any order. But still the combination.

But as Ted Kennedy has said to friends, he 's not going to get his backside "shot off" for second place.

But the 41- year- old Kennedy is sharply impaled on one of the famed dilemmatic horns which could rip open his political ambitions. His senatorial seat is up in '76. Ted then must choose between running for reelection or chancing it on the potential presidency. If he chooses to gamble on the White House and loses, he'll have himself a long hiatus at Hyannis Port.

Under Massachusetts law, he can't run for both seats. Lyndon Johnson did in '60 But Texas was good to the late President and passed special legislation so LBJ could run for both Vice President and the Senate.

Then if Kennedy wants to return to the Senate he would have to run against Sen. Ed Brooke, who is black and popular. But that won't come until 1978. Kennedy has told friends he'll not make a decision until 1975 -- well after the 1947 elections.

But he's being pushed behind the scenes by the restless 37- year- old Harvard-educated Congressman Mike Harrington, a hard campaigner who blends the traditions of Boston- style last and first hurrahs. He wants an answer. He wants to run for the Senate. He wants time to build a state machine. But it looks like he'll have to wait.

Kennedy looks more and more like a presidential campaigner. During the Miami Democratic convention last year, he told the embattled George Meany he was set to run. But it was too late. So Jackson stood up against the icy youthful McGovern phalanxes, and rolled up over 500 delegate votes against the South Dakotan.

These days Kennedy is on the move. He has been in New Jersey, where he and Scoop Jackson believe the impact of Watergate will be tested during the fall gubernatorial election. If GOP candidate Charles Sandman defeats the Democratic party's nominee Brendan Byrne in this heavily concentrated industrial labor and ethnically jammed state, the Republicans will prove that Watergate is not a searing political issue.

And recently Kennedy also has been out to Kansas City, Mo., for a Sen. Tom Eagleton affair, and in Oklahoma City and, of course, to Los Angeles for the telethon.

However, it's just not likely labor's veteran political war horses will wait for the young man from Massachusetts to make a belated decision.

True, they'll cheer Kennedy in the Hotel Americana's convention hall until the bagels rattle at the poolside lunch tables. But there's virtually no doubt their man is Scoop Jackson. And whatever labor does in 1976 it will do unitedly.

Some labor men may have a nostalgia for the Kennedy family. But Meany has welded the gargantuan politically powerful AFL- CIO. They won't be neutral or split in '76. One can see what sort of machinery they can throw into a campaign from the simple fact that the Communications Workers of America (AFL-CIO) leader Joe Beirne got up 10,000 volunteer phone workers for the Democratic telethon.

Meany won't go in for last-minute Machiavellianism. McGovernites are besieging his people inside the party. And on the outside Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons's giant 2.2 million- member Teamsters union is defending Dick Nixon and vetoing Jackson or any other Democrat.

"Meany is trying to grab the leadership of the Democratic party and make (Henry) Jackson President," Fitzsimmons told an intimate recently. "As far as I'm concerned, Jackson never will be President. He just doesn't have it, though he is a nice guy."

Thus the giants herald 1976. Rarely have so many started running so early.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Congressional Panels Working On V.P. Replacement Guidelines

WASHINGTON — Three major congressional committees have secretly ordered studies of how Congress should respond to the constitutional challenge of ruling on a possible replacement for Vice President Spiro Agnew.

One preliminary study by the Senate Judiciary Committee began more than two weeks ago at a time when Agnew's aides were pooh-poohing any talk of resignation. The other two probes were ordered early this week by the House Judiciary and Senate Rules committees.

All three surveys are intended to prepare Congress for possible eventualities. The committees have no positive information that Agnew might actually resign in the wake of the grand jury investigtion of Maryland kickback charges.

Although the replacement of a Vice President would be unprecedented in American history, hte Senate Judiciary study has already found guidelines in Congress' own rules and in the legislative history of the 25th Amendment. The six- year- old amendment says both houses of Congress must rule on any presidential nominee to succeed a Vice President.

CHAIRMEN

If two sets of hearings are held under the 25th Amendment as is normal on legislation, the Senate Judiciary staff investigation has found it would be headed by Senate Rules chairman Howard Cannon, D-Nev., and House Judiciary chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J. Both are well-regarded, fair- minded lawyers.

One of the most intriguing precedents discovered by the Senate Judiciary staff has eerie parallels with the present situation. Thirty- six years ago, then- Sen. Hugo Black was picked by Pres. Franklin Roosevelt for the Supreme Court. So highly thought of was Black by his Senate conferees that they skipped committee hearings on the controversial nomination. It went straight to the Senate floor where it was approved.

Today, two of the men mentioned in the speculation as replacements for Agnew are also senators -- Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Hugh Scott, R.- Pa., either of whom could conceivably pass the Senate without hearings.

Another possibility is that Cannon's Rules Committee and Rodino's Judiciary group would hold joint hearings. Rodino's legislative sleuths have already discovered that a decade ago the House Judiciary and Senate Finance committees were ordered by an unusual Act of Congress jointly to study a taxation question. Although House Judiciary wound up doing almost all the work, the old act is a clear precedent for joint vice presidential hearings.

SELECT COMMITTEES

One of several other possibilities turned up by the studies is that a select committee would be appointed by each House or a joint select committee would be appointed by both houses. However, Senate historians feel any effort by the leadership to dislodge Rodino or Cannon as chairmen would be a flagrant slap.

While Rodino is new to his blue- ribbon Judiciary post, he has been an articulate veteran chairman of other lesser House units for years. And Cannon's committee, while it generally does fuddy- duddy business on Senate procedures, was the forum for dramatic hearings on former Senate majority secretary Bobby Baker exactly 10 years ago.

Meanwhile, the strain between President Nixon and Vice President Agnew is approaching the breaking point. The rival staffs have become hostile camps, spreading rumors and leaking stories against one another.

Sources close to Agnew believe the President has stirred up the charges against Agnew to divert public attention from his own role in the Watergate scandal.

'MARVELOUS DISTRACTION

Before Agnew came under investigation in Maryland, they point out, there were public suggestions that the President should resign. This talk has now stopped, because Agnew is no longer an acceptable alternative. Public attention has been focused, instead, upon the possibility that Agnew might resign.

"The charges against Agnew have created a marvelous distraction," said one source. "Now the President can offer up Agnew as a blood offering to placate the public."

Friends of Agnew tell us he is aware of the White House backstabbing but, nevertheless, refuses to believe the President is personally behind it. Spiro Agnew, said a friend, "has this feeling of awe for the presidency, for the White House, which inhibits him from coming to the inevitable conclusion that the President is knifing him."

Enticing charge to be reduced

BLOOMFIELD — Amended information will be filed by Prosecuting Attorney in the case against Stanley Guilding of Bloomfield following testimony Thursday in a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Koss Blomeyer.

Guilding, 45, was charged with enticing a 13- year- old Dexter girl away from her home for the purpose of concubinage. The charge will be reduced to enticing a minor away from home.

The girl testified that on Sept. 9, she called Guilding and asked him to take her to St. Louis. She said she arranged to meet him on a street corner near her home. After picking her up, the girl said Guilding then drove to a gravel road north of Dexter where he kissed her a couple of times.

She also said he told her it would be necessary for him to borrow some money from a relative and dropped her off at a friend's home after promising to return as soon as he had obtained the money.

She was picked up shortly thereafter at the friend's home by the Dexter police after her grandmother had issued a missing person report.

The case will remain open until amended information can be filed.

Ruby Townes, Bessie Mathis and Victor Hughs were found guilty of disturbing the peace of Carolyn Seabaugh in a trial by court and all were fined $10 and given 30- day suspended jail sentences.

Mrs. Seabaugh testified that the three youths stopped at her home southeast of Dexter and asked for gas for their car. Mrs. Seabaugh said she told the youths she had no gas. They then asked to use the telephone. Mrs. Seabaugh said she told them she did not have a telephone because she did not know them and did not want to let them into her home. She testified the youths then refused to leave and began calling her names, at which time she called Stoddard County authorities.

Preliminary hearing was set on Sept. 27 for James Arlen Amos, 18, and Austin Neal Calloway, 18, both of Ohatchee, Ala., charged with tampering with a motor vehicle belonging to Mrs. Bob Bryant of Malden. The car was reported stolen from the Wal Mart parking lot in Dexter last week. The pair are being held in the Bernie jail.

Preliminary hearing was set on Sept. 27 for Frank Small of Bloomfield on a charge of burglary and stealing. He is charged with burglaries at M & R Drive- In at Advance and Hilltop Tavern in Bloomfield.

James D. Hatchell entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of possession of intoxicating beverages by a minor and was fined $50.

Preliminary was set for Sept. 27 for Dale McCulley of Bloomfield on a burglary charge.

Frank E. Gunter pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $100 and ordered to surrender his operator's license.

Norma J. McClure of Puxico pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of careless and imprudent driving, was fined $50 and placed on probation for one year under supervision.

Two cases continued until Oct. 4 included Maggie Saylors of Campbell, charged with felonious assault, and John Lee Grimes, cited for nonsupport.

A charge of no- fund check was dismissed against Russell J. Grubbs.

Others paying fines were: Darryl Lynn Thacker of Bernie, careless and imprudent driving, drinking and causing an accident, $25; Robert Lee White of Bernie, expired vehicle license, $10; Zephyr W. Webber of Kennett, careless and imprudent driving, $130.40.

Attend fall meeting in Columbia

COLUMBIA — Dr. Max A. Heeb of Sikeston and Harry Bock of New Madrid attended the annual fall session of directors and leaders of the University of Missouri-Columbia Alumni Association Sept. 14 and 15.

The board of directors had new student directors, Paul Woerner and Brian Cason of Clinton and top officials in the Missouri Students Association, present for the first time.

Alumni president Mitch Murch of St. Louis outlined a goal to increase from 11,500 to 15,000 the paid membership in the association. The directors also met with recognized divisional alumni presidents and granted recognition to the College of Administration and Public Affairs association.

Local leaders heard talks by Chancellor Herbert W. Schooling and Vice Chancellor G. H. "Bus" Entsminger. The latter suggested to alumni that they establish a two- way communication in their communities to help acquaint the state with student trends, enrollment increases and university problems and feed back ideas from local communities to the campus.

The fall meeting closed on a happy note as the alumni leaders witnessed the Tigers' victory over Mississippi, 17-0, in the opening Missouri football game.

Miss Waldman is August bride

On Aug. 25 at 7 in the evening at First Baptist Church, the marriage uniting Elizabeth A. Waldman and John F. Lowney was performed. The church was adorned with yellow and white daisies and baby's breath with candelabras at the altar and center aisles highlighting the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Phillip Waldman Jr. and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Waldman Sr., Mrs. E. E. Caldwell and the late E. E. Caldwell of Sikeston. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lowney, and he is the grandson of Mrs. William O'Reilly and the late William O'Reilly of Spokane, Wash.

The Rev. Charles Green and Father Robert Schumacher performed the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. J. E. Childress provided pre-nuptial music. Mrs. Pat Brennan, soloist, sang "Sunrise, Sunset" as the mothers were being escorted to their seats. Mrs. Brennan also sang the "Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt before the alter. Timothy B. Chambers sang "The Wedding Song" as he accompanied himself on the guitar.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father and given in marriage by her parents. The bride presented her mother a yellow rose before reaching the alter; and , at the close of the ceremony, the groom presented his mother a yellow rose.

Miss Waldman chose for her wedding a formal gown of white chiffon over angelmist taffeta. The bodice, overlaid with re-embroidered Alencon lace, had a high neckline of scalloped lace encircled by a single row of lace motifs touched with tiny pearls.

The full bishop sleeves of sheer chiffon were underlined with a fitted sleeve of Alencon lace and ended with deep lace cuffs with tiny bridal buttons. Tiny buttons also closed the back of the gown. A triple bow of chiffon accented the front waistline, the double chiffon skirt, worn over taffeta was softly gathered and swept into an attached chapel-length train.

She chose a Camelot cap of Alencon lace embroidered in pearls. Attached were elbow and chapel-length veils of imported illusion, both bordered with matching lace. She held a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath with streamers of yellow and white.

Mrs. Paula K. Durham of Nashville, Tenn., served as her sister's matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Lowney of Spokane, sister of the groom; Mrs. Peggy Borgsmiller; Miss Mary Lynn Caldwell, cousin of the bride; and Miss Cyd Mitchell of Nashville, Tenn.

They wore identical floor-length dresses of yellow dotted Swiss with raised daisies. The dresses were accented with a scoop neckline, raised waistline and puff sleeves highlighted with eyelet lace.

They wore yellow wide-brimmed hats trimmed with a yellow ribbon with a cluster of daisies and a touch of baby's breath. The bridesmaids carried wicker baskets filled with daisies.

Miss Mary T. Lowney of Spokane, sister of the groom, and Miss Stacey Storey of Cape Girardeau, served as candlelighters. They wore identical floor-length dresses of yellow dotted Swiss and a halo of daisies in their hair.

Miss Janet Caldwell of Sikeston and Miss Jane Lynch of Union, cousins of the bride; Mrs. Charline Chambers of Sikeston; and Miss Jill Campbell of Union attended the bride's table. Mrs. Karen Ritter of Union, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Ann Landers

Friend's gift of religious symbol causes problem

Dear Ann Landers: I have been married to this man for 18 years. We were poor when we started but now we have more than we ever dreamed of.

From the early days of our marriage I never got an allowance like most wives. The only way I could get any money out of my husband (even for necessities) was to put a price on my sexual "favors." I fantasized a lot---pretending I was Mata Hari, Cleopatra, Joan of Arc and a few other heroines of history---and I must say it was rather enjoyable. But now I am older and wiser and I feel this is beneath my dignity.

Last week my husband offered me $100. I said no and explained that I wanted to stop playing that game. He kept raising the price and finally I gave in for $400. (The money went to run the house.) Now I need money to pay a whopping big dentist bill. He stubbornly insists that I play the game or no money. How can I get him to see it my way?--- A Better Me

Dear You: You're trying to move from Sales to Management, honey, and it won't work. Don't blame your husband. Together you established a pattern that has been in effect for 18 years. You're going to find it difficult, if not impossible, to get him to see things your way.

Dear Ann Landers: We are fortunate in that we have a lovely, motherly-type woman who will come and stay with our children evenings, weekends--- whenever we want her. The children love "Aunt Belle" and she loves them.

A problem has come up and I don't know how to handle it.

"Aunt Belle" is deeply religious and her religion is different from ours. She talks a great deal about her concepts which are not compatible with whar our children are learning in Sunday Shool. For the oldest girl's birthday last week, "Aunt Belle" gave her a crucifix. This symbol is not worn by people of our faith. I said nothing, but I was not pleased. This afternoon my mother was here and when she saw the crucifix around the child's neck she blew up. The child is bewildered and can't understand what all the yelling was about. I realize now I mishandled the whole thing.

How can I set this matter straight without hurting "Aunt Belle's" feelings--- Smart Too Late

Dear S. T. L.: First, explain to the child why she can't wear the crucifix. Then have a friendly chat with "Aunt Belle." Ask her not to discuss religion with your children. Tell her they are becoming confused. Explain that your child cannot wear the religious symbol and ask her if she would mind if the child kept it as a memento.

Dear Ann Landers: How can I protect myself against a vicious liar? This person has been telling some terrible lies about me to anyone who will listen. I do believe she is a mental case. We are distant relatives and grew up together.

When I faced her with some of the stories she denied everything. In fact, she shrewdly twisted things around and made the person who told me the story look like a liar.

I need your advice.---Muddied A-Plenty

Dear M.: A person's record of performance is his best protection against destructive gossip. What you are speaks far more eloquently than anything anyone could say. Don't waste time or energy defending yourself. If the woman is as vicious as you say, people know it by this time.

Scripture: 2 Corinthians 5:11-6:10

THE MINISTRY OF RECONCILIATION

"The love of God gives us no choice." is Paul's reasoning for his recommendations and suggestions to the church in Corinth. "If we are in our right mind, it is for you." he added.

Paul's whole ministry was based on bringing God and man together. He indicated here that he had no interest in building up his own standing in their eyes. He sought no personal gains through his instructions.

Christians must live for God and not merely for themselves. Paul felt all such believers should refocus their lives according to the teachings of Christ, much as Paul had experienced in his own transformation of attitudes.

"Reconciliation" was a key word in Paul's ministry. He used it to bring men closer to each other. Reconciliation must express itself in the reconciliation of man to man. The heart of this action obviously is love, God's love for us, our love for Him and for people.

Today the world faces numerous problems involving the need for reconciliation. Different parts of the world are at war with other nations. Leaders within governments are split, as indicated in this nation's Watergate episode.

Through the church we have the means to bring opposing nations and people together: We have our peacemakers at work attempting to end all wars throughout this world.

When peacemaking obligations face us we are tempted to say "Count me out." Such persons admit their lack of faith to others.

The late Dag Hammarskjold sought world peace through his leadership of the United Nations. He left a manuscript which he said represented "a sort of white book concerning my negotiations with myself and with God."

Paul realized that one of the better ways we could achieve reconciliation was through the lives we lead. In other words, peace can come only after we first lead a peaceful life of our own.

Some persons help to create a peaceful world through their teachings or preachings. Unfortunately, this list is not as lengthy as one would desire.

Each believer of God becomes an ambassador, responsible for spreading the message and practicing His commands. Christians have been given this duty.

Paul reminded the people of his own experience, a practice followed by many successful teachers. If he could change from being anti-Christ to being one of His greatest followers, why couldn't everyone else do the same? We still say "confession is good for the soul."

To be a successful ambassador for Christ requires full-time devotion to the cause and full-time love for one's neighbors.

No great, complex organization was created by Christ. He lacked today's rapid facilities for communication. He possessed no mailing lists, no publications, no printing presses. He depended only on a few dedicated individuals.

Christ viewed each believer as a go-between, the necessary link between God and the people. It was a system that put the pressure on one person to reach another.

Unfortunately, there are too many individuals today who don't want to hear the word or to learn anything about God. Their goals are immediate, such as better jobs, improved health, or more money.

When these areas develop problems, the people turn to their government for help, not to their churches. How can the church leaders step in and assist such persons?

Our young people are serving as ambassadors more than many of the older church members. They recognize a need for modified changes in the church ceremonies. They see the need for modern music, with guitars replacing pipe organs.

These young persons believe that before we can solve the nation's and the world's problems we must solve our neighborhood difficulties. Too they tend to approach their obligations in a more informal style, a plan that Paul would find effective.

Reconciliation starts, of course, with you.

Author to revise 'The Living Bible'

WHEATON, Ill. — "The Living Bible," the paraphrase of the Word of God which was by far the best- selling book in the United States last year, will be revised during the next three years in an effort to make improvements.

Dr. Kenneth Taylor, the 56- year- old seminary graduate who spent 15 years paraphrasing the Bible so that others might understand it better, said in an interview that he will begin the work within a few months.

Dr. Taylor's name does not appear in the Living Bible and the royalties, which amounted to about $4 million last year, are all given to Christian missions through the Tyndale Foundation, he said.

"I do that because I feel the Bible is the work of God," he said. "And since it is the word and work of God, I think that he should get the royalties."

A quiet, retiring type man who said he prefers to stay at home with his family, Dr. Taylor spends much of his time now in the administration of Tyndale House Publishers in Wheaton, which he founded when no other publishers would handle the paraphrasing. He is the firm's president.

More and more of his time is spent in traveling to make speeches about The Living Bible, but he said he would "withdraw" within a few months to begin the revision.

"Three years is an arbitrary amount of time that I have decided to work on the revision," he said. "I've had several hundreds of suggestions from readers. Some say a passage would read more easily this or that way. Some have been helpful suggestions, but I must sit down and see whether they have overlooked something or said something that the scriptures don't imply. The Bible should not be paraphrased so that it will sound or read better unless the paraphrasing is accurate."

Aware that his undertaking would be open for much criticism from Bible scholars because of his natural concern for accuracy, Dr. Taylor said he used the original Greek, the 1901 American Standard Version of the Bible and a Hebrew text while he was paraphrasing.

"The King James Version is to me so obsolete and difficult to understand, I did not find it of value and help," he said. "I think that is the main reason why I began the work, because I had so much difficulty as a seminary graduate trying to prepare a sermon from the Bible. Sometimes I would be working on a talk and I would turn to a certain chapter and work for half an hour just trying to understand exactly what it said ... I longed for someone to consider doing a translation ...

"It is a custom in our family to have devotions every evening. I would read from the King James Version to the children, then ask them what the passage meant. Often they would say it said nothing to them so I would explain it. Finally it occurred that perhaps I could take it chapter by chapter, working it over so I could just read it in my own way. The idea crystallized and I began paraphrasing the Bible."

For the first seven years of his work, Dr. Taylor said he worked while on a commuter train from his home in Wheaton to his job as director of Moody Press of the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. He said he also worked on the paraphrasing during weekends.

By 1961, he was ready to publish the Epistles of Paul — but no publisher would handle it. So he founded Tyndale House Publishers and had 2,000 copies of "Living Letters" printed.

"We didn't know what we would do with the 2,000 copies but we had them printed anyway," he said. "We named the publishing house after William Tyndale who in 1525 published the first New Testament in the English language ... He was eventually killed because of his translation, but his purpose was to make the Bible understandable to every plowboy.

"We don't have many plowboys now, but we do have taxi drivers, housewives, executives and airline pilots who need the Word of God to be understandable."

The news of the paraphrase spread by word of mouth and the whole Taylor family, including the 10 children, worked in their garage bundling up packages to fill orders. Evangelist Billy Graham brought the first national attention to Dr. Taylor's work during one of his crusades, and the paraphrase's popularity has increased steadily ever since.

The first entire paraphrase was printed in July 1971. It has now had 24 printings, producing nearly 11 million copies.

Dr. Taylor said that The Living Bible has been slow to receive official acceptance from many major denominations at first but it is becoming more widely accepted every day.

"We just received official acceptance by the Roman Catholics," he said. "We haven't had any response from the Episcopalians so far, and the United Methodists have been slow ...

"It is being accepted more readily by laymen and clergy. The seminary professors are the hardest to get approval from. But every professor has been brought up under a word- for- word translation of the American Standard Version or the King James. They prefer direct translation from the traditional. They are afraid that it's less accurate ..."

Some of the profits from The Living Bible are used through the World Home Bible League of South Holland, Ill. The league has placed paperback copies of The Living Bible in 100,000 hotel and motel rooms. A card in the Bible asks guests to take the copy home with them if they would like to read it.

"We hope in another year or so to have the books in 800,000 rooms," Dr. Taylor said. "So far we have a complete turnover of volumes every 90 days."

Dr. Taylor said his main interest now is in encouraging people to read the Bible so that they might understand about God.

"I would like to tell everyone that the Bible is the most important book ever written," he said. "And I'll bet you most haven't read it. Now we have a Bible that is easier to read and understand. I urge them to read it. I always say a chapter a day is a good way to keep the devil away."

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

101. Sisera Is Defeated

When Barak marshalled the men of Zebulun and Naphtali at Kedesh, there were ten thousand men who assembled under his command. When Sisera was told that Barak and his forces were camped at Mount Tabor, he rapidly mobilized his entire army, including the nine hundred iron chariots, and marched to the Kishon river.

"And Deborah said unto Barak, Up; for this is the day in which the Lord hath delivered Sisera into thine hand: is not the Lord gone out before thee? So Barak went down from Mount Tabor, and ten thousand men after him. And the Lord discomfited Sisera, and all his chariots, and all his host, with the edge of the sword, before Barak; so that Sisera lighted down off his chariot, and fled away on his feet." (Judges 4:14-15)

However, Barak pursued the chariots and the soldiers as far as Harosheth, and slew all of the force, except for Sisera, who had fled the fray earlier.

Improvements to cost over $3 million

CHARLESTON — Levee improvement projects costing over $3 million are under way in Mississippi and New Madrid Counties, according to Robert D. Cash, Cairo area engineer, Memphis District, Army Corps of Engineers.

Most costly of the projects is a six- mile- long levee enlargement from mile 70 to mile 76 south of Dorena, estimated cost of which is $1,359,740. C. W. Crumpecker and Sons of Morehouse is the contractor on that job.

Cash said the project consists of constructing a higher levee — averaging three feet higher than the present structure — and making the levee section thicker. At present the "bicycle top" levee has a five- foot width. The new levee section will have a 25- foot crown and a one on 3½- foot slope, compared to the present one on four- foot slope.

Mr. Cash said the enlarged levee will provide additional protection in a section which was threatened by wave wash during the 1973 spring flood. However, he said, one reason the section experienced the damage was that the enlargement project was already under way and there was some fresh fill which was easily washed away by the high water.

A second project, from mile 76 to mile 82, has been under way since 1971 by the Cinusa Constructors Co. of St. Charles. Its estimated cost is $1,015,670. A third levee enlargement project, below the Cinusa project, has an estimated price tag of $429,640.

Of more interest to the north end of Mississippi County is the replacement of the old flood gate at Peafield Sewer, and the strengthening of the levee at that point southeast of Wyatt.

Cash said the contractor, Luhr Brothers, Inc., of Columbia, Ill., is building a new flood gate about 100 feet upstream from the old structure. The new gate will consist of two five by nine- foot culverts, permitting a faster rate of flow than the old five by 10- foot pipe. The old structure remains open so the area drained by the sewer can drain during construction. However, as soon as the project is completed, the old structure will be closed permanently.

Cost of this main line levee project is estimated at $979,000.

Jim Bogle a member of the levee district board, said he understands the "loop levee" at Peafield will be removed when the gate project is completed, and that Route RA, which connects Highway 60 with the Joseph H. Moore River Access point, will be paved along its entire length.

One additional levee project is also under way, just downstream from the mississippi River bridge. Cash said the Cowan Construction Co. of Sikeston has the contract for graveling about 1,000 feet of the main levee. The clay gravel will repair damage to the levee from the spring flood this year, raising its level from one to two feet for that 1,000- foot section.

Make Child Night Bright

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Tips on designing and creating Halloween costumes at home to meet "see and be seen" safety standards shed some light for dark nights.

The American Optometric Association, in a pre-Halloween message to parents, says a Halloween costume should be visible to drivers traveling at speeds of 70 miles per hour and must be free of masks that may block a child's view.

Decorating costumes with retro-reflective material is an effective way to make young wearers highly visible to drivers at night, the association says. This material is available in either iron-on or sew-on fabrics and tape, so youngsters can make up their own designs. Parents should be certain the children will be visible from front, back and sides, the association cautions.

The largest collection of art in the Western Hemisphere is found at the Metropolitan Museum of Art at Fifth Ave. and 82nd St. in New York City, The World Almanac says. Great masters of all the ages are included in the museum's collection of more than 1,000,000 works of art.

What's the law?

The case of the mysterious consultant

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Barney woke up one morning feeling like he had been hit by a truck. Feeling extremely run down, he ran down to see Dr. Jones who examined him, prescribed some medicine and told him to take it easy for several days. And that's precisely what Barney did.

For almost a week, he stayed home, guzzled beer and glared at the boob box. The only interruptions were when Dr. Green came around on two occasions. He told Barney that Dr. Jones had sent him, asked Barney how he felt and when Barney stated he felt fine he left.

Barney suffered a relapse, however, when Dr. Green subsequently sent him a bill for medical services rendered.

"Why should I pay you,"protested Barney. "I didn't know you from a hole in the wall."

"Because Dr. Jones hired me as a consultant to check up on you," was the answer. "And as a consulting physician, I'm entitled to be paid."

Convinced that the doctors were trying to operate on his purse, Barney refused to pay and the dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you require Barney to pay the consultantation fee?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that where a patient knows in advance that there will be a consulting physician or where the patient, by his acts or conduct, approves of the engagement of a consultant by his attending physician, the patient can be held liable for the consulting physician's fee. In this case, however, concluded the judge, Barney had no advance knowledge of a consultant nor could a banal exchange of "How do you feel?"-- "I feel fine" amount to an approval.

Mo. meningitis outbreak under investigation

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—The U.S. Public Health Service has begun an investigation into what is beleived to be the first outbreak of an unusual strain of viral meningitis in Missouri, a state health department official said Wednesday.

Dr. H. Denny Donnell Jr. of the Missouri Division of Health said Dr. Robert Fontaine, a federal epidemic expert, has confirmed through tests on blood samples that two of the 12 cases of the disease have been effected by the California Encephalitis Virus.

Donnell said the cases of the virus, which unlike spinal meningitis is usually mild, are the first indication that the West Coast strain is active in the state. He also said the dozen cases in northeast Missouri are believed to be the first found in the nation this year.

All 12 cases, which have occurred since June, involved children ranging in age from four months to 13 years, Donnell said, adding that all have been hospitalized but have not suffered any serious complications.

The disease, normally contracted through the bite of infected mosquitoes, usually affects only wild animals, Donnell noted, but can be given to humans.

Federal and state personnel have begun an analysis of the mosquito population in the Hannibal area in an effort to determine the exact origin of the disease, Donnell said.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

I am convinced that there is nothing...in all creation that can separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord. (Romans 8:38- 39)

PRAYER: O God, so steady my faith today that I may live in the sunshine of life, fully persuaded that You are able to do that which You have promised through Your Son Jesus Christ. Amen.

Rinse your hands with cold water before you shape hamburgers or meat balls.

taken, however, and the assailant left before police arrived.

Ellison was reported to be carrying the pistol tucked in the front of his pants.

Police and sheriff's officers searched Sunset Addition for Harrington after learning he was the alleged assailant, but he was not found.

Taylor said Harrington is being held in custody by the FBI. He added that a warrant for Harrington's return to face slaying charges will be sent to Chicago today.

Ellison was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Ellison of Sikeston.

When asked this morning for comment about the capture of his son's alleged assailant, Ellison told The Daily Standard he only wants justice. "If Harrington is the guilty party I want him to receive the punishment he deserves," Ellison said.

Ellison said there was a lot more involved in the case than most people realized and said it would all come out if a trial is held.

Ellison said he didn't want to comment any more at this time because he didn't want to say anything that might jeopardize the case.

Following the death of his son, Ellison had been critical of law enforcement in Sunset Addition and ran unsuccessfully for the office of sheriff in 1972.

Area readers join in picking winners

By RON JAYNES

Seven courageous readers have joined The Daily Standard sports staff in picking the winners of this week's high school football games.

Last week Tony Ford was the only brave reader to join with your veteran guesser in picking the winners. Even his illustrious assistant staff of writers didn't even venture a guess. Tony missed three and the vet two.

Daily Standard sportswriters, Bill Harrison, Dianne Ezzell and Stuart McGhee have joined with the vet, Tony and Danny Summerfield, Bobby Gentry, Jerry Gentry, John Greer, Eddie Smith, Magnificent Mike and the Shadow in calling this week's games. We must insist that the guessers from here on out provide us with his true name along with his nickname.

Now that I've made my introductions, here's the way the group picked this week's winners.

Perryville at Sikeston — The Bulldogs have the backing of eight of the panel members along with the vet. Two gave Perryville the nod and one too it as a tie. But all agree it will be a close contest, and a low scoring affair. It should be about 14-13 SHS.

St. Vincent at Charleston — Coach Joe Black's Blue Jays are the panel favorites with nine of the votes, along with the vets, going to CHS. Two guessers have gone with the Indians. The scores are split, about half figure a run-away and the other figure a low scoring, close battle. CHS seems to be Primed for a big season, they'll ramp here. 21-6.

Malden at Jackson — It's unanimous ... The Indians will ride the Green Wave to victory. The majority of the guessers see a run-away, but don't bet on it. JHS 28, Malden 20.

Kennett at Poplar Bluff — The Mules are odds on favorite, 10-1 to take this Northern Division contest, but I figure a upset here. KHS 21- PB 20.

Hazelwood at Cape Central — Last season the Bengals made rather easy work of these same opponents in a regular season contest but ended up losing the state title to them. The Bengals are 11-1 favorites to repeat their win of a year ago ... I'll agree. CCHS 35, Hazelwood 20.

Scott City at Gideon — Another unanimous pick ... The Rams will begin storming toward their fourth straight Bootheel conference crown. I-SC 28, Gideon 0.

Doniphan at Thayer — It should be a close contest, if our panel of guessers are correct. Doniphan is a 8-2-1 favorite. I'll have to stick with the Dons, 27-20.

Dexter at Portageville — The winner of this contest could very well capture the Southern Division league title this season. Both enter the game with opening game defeats at the hands of Northern Division championship hopefuls ... The panel favors the Bearcasts 11-1 and I'll go along with that, but not by over a field goal. DHS 17, PHS 14.

Hayti at Caruthersville — Injuries have begun to mount in the Tigers camp and could cause them a loss at the hands of their arch rival tonight's ... The panel has Hayti a 8-3 favorite ... It could be about 21-13.

Chaffee at East Prairie — The panel has the Red Devils a 9-2 favorite, but I can't figure that. East Prairie is a much better team than last week's score indicated ... The Panel has it 21-7, but I'd just switch the score.

That's it from here today ... Join with us next week as we again try to predict the winners.

SHS changes lineups

Coach Terry Smith had nothing but praise for his former team, the Perryville Pirates, as he evaluated them early this week for The Daily Standard.

The Pirates call at Public School Stadium tonight to kickoff Northern Dividion league play with the Sikeston Bulldogs and hope to maintain their five year reign over the SHS gridders.

Under the tudorship of coach Smith the Pirates had not been beaten by an SHS squad, and had only been tied by a Bulldog team once.

Perryville visits with a 1-0 season record, after having gotten off last week with a season opening triumph over Ste. Genevieve, 10-0, while the Bulldogs struggled in a 13-7 losing cause.

"They're tough!" Coach Smith noted. "They have a real fine defense and good size and are fundamentally sound." Perryville normally stays on the ground, running big, bruising backs at the defense all night.

When the Pirates go to the air it generally catches their opposition by surprise and turns into a big gainer.

Sikeston high school's first year coach (Smith) has shuffled his offensive and defensive lineup from last week, making seven changes in his offense, mostly on the line and five in the defensive setup.

Kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Mets make run for leadership

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Somebody up there likes the New York Mets. Or doesn't like the Pittsburgh Pirates. Or both.

"You've got to believe that someone is watching over us," says Met infielder Wayne Garrett, "and I hope He stays there."

Garrett and the rest of the Mets are more convinced than ever that there's a division title, at the very least, in their immediate future after Thursday night's remarkable 4-3, 13-inning victory over the Pirates.

The win boosted New York into second place in the furious National League East race. Only three games separate the first five teams with just over one week to go.

The Mets are one-half game back of the front-running Bucs. The third-place Montreal Expos, 5-4 losers to the Chicago Cubs, are one game behind. The St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a 6-5 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies, are in fourth place, 1½ games off the pace. The Cubs are three back.

San Francisco dumped Cincinnati 7-5 and Los Angeles beat Atlanta 5-3 in 12 innings in other National League games.

Cubs 5, Expos 4

The Expos staggered through their fourth straight loss. They outhit Chicago 13-7 but threw the game away with three errors and three wild pitches. Rick Monday was the big gun for Chicago, collecting three base hits and scoring three times.

Phillies 6, Cardinals 5

Philly second baseman Denny Doyle continued his hot hitting with a homer and sacrifice fly to drive in four runs. Bob Boone and Greg Luzinski knocked in the other Philly runs with solo homers and Bernie Carbo hit one for St. Louis.

Doyle has raised his batting average from .238 to .272 over the last 17 games.

Giants 7, Reds 5

Left-hander Ron Bryant lasted into the seventh inning and that was long enough to pick up his 23rd victory against 11 losses. The Giants struck for six runs in the third inning, three of them scoring on a basesloaded triple by Chris Speier.

San Francisco reliever Elias Sosa recorded his 17th save and set a club record with his 68th appearance of the season.

Dodgers 5, Braves 3

Dave Lopez drilled a two-run homer off Roric Harrison in the 12th inning to account for the Dodgers' victory. Willie Crawford belted a pair of homers for Los Angeles and reliever Charlie Hough got the win.

Hank Aaron didn't hit any home runs but he made up for it with a pair of doubles and a single for the Braves. Aaron still needs three homers to tie Babe Ruth's all-time record of 714.

In the American League, Minnesota swept a doubleheader from Oakland 4-3 and 5-4; California and Texas split a pair, California winning the opener in 11 innings 6-4 with Texas taking the second game 8-3.

King-Riggs make tennis big-time sport

HOUSTON (AP) — Bobby Riggs is screaming for a rematch with Billie Jean King, and Billie Jean says she'll think about it. Let's hope both come to their senses and forget it. Tennis' so-called "Battle of the Sexes" was cute and different the first time. It was exciting the second time when the project got into the hands of a Hollywood entrepreneur named Jerry Perrenchio.

But a third time?

The sports public would gag on it. With all of Bobby's buffoonery and Billie Jean's militant responses, the idea now has worn thin. Nobody would pay to see a rematch of Bobby and Billie Jean just as nobody would pay to see Margaret Court get another crack at the 55-year old guy who hustled her into a match in which she was ridiculed before the world on Mother's Day.

What does it prove anyhow?

Bobby Riggs, middle-aged, joints creaking and reflexes slow, beat Mrs. Court, whose record of national championships makes her undisputed queen of the courts, 6-2, 6-1.

Billie Jean, 29, winner of five Wimbledons but a walkout in her own national championships this year, came back Thursday night and beat a weary, party-pooped, energy drained old man 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

So spin the computers, probe the experts, make national surveys, and what do you get?

On one day, Riggs, a master craftsman and con artist, can beat the best woman player in the world. On another he can't hold a racket to a plucky and determined women's champion.

So Bobby gets another shot at Billie Jean, or Margaret gets another shot at Bobby, or popular little Chris Evert, the machine-like marvel from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., gets into the act.

Bobby and Billy Jean have done their "chauvinist pig" against the women's libber" bit. People loved it while it lasted. Both come out of it richer if not wiser—$200,000 for King and $100,000 for Riggs. But they've exhausted the goose that lays the golden egg.

Let Bobby find another hustle. Let Billie Jean find another war to wage.

Today's sports review

HOUSTON (AP) — Billie Jean King outhustled "The Hustler" Thursday night, wearing down Bobby Riggs for a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory in their best-offive tennis match at the Astrodome.

The veteran 55-year-old Riggs appeared a shell of the man who defeated Australia's Margaret Court on Mother's Day

This time Riggs, who once said women should be kept pregnant and barefoot, fell victim to Mrs. King's aggressive tactics.

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Mays, the "Say Hey Kid," has announced he is retiring as an active player at the end of this season.

The 42-year-old Mays still trim and muscular, but his skills diminished by nagging injuries all season, made the announcement at a press conference Thursday.

Mays has a lifetime average of .302 and his 660 homers are the third total in the history of the game behind Babe Ruth and Hank Aaron.

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Scots Brian Barnes and Bernard Gallacher have boosted Great Britain into a 5½-2½ lead over the United States going into the second day of Ryder Cup golf competition.

Barnes and Gallacher beat Lee Trevino and Billy Casper in Scotch foursomes and then whipped Tommy Aaron and Gay Brewer in a fourball match Thursday.

Clayton stars

Tailback Don Clayton, former Malden High School star, rushed for 111 yards and one touchdown in Murray State University's 27-25 upset of Western Carolina last Saturday. Clayton, instructed here by Coach Bill Furgerson during a practice session, carried the ball 19 times for an average of 5.8 yards as Murray opened its season in its new 16,800 - seat stadium. Murray will open its Ohio Valley Conference season Saturday at Murray against defending conference champion Tennessee Tech.

Murray St. hosts Tenn. Tech

MURRAY, Ky. — Murray State's Racers, who opened their new stadium and their season with a 27-25 victory over Western Carolina last week, will play Tennessee Tech, defending champions of the Ohio Valley Conference Saturday night at Murray.

Tech tied Western Carolina 10-10 in its first game and was beaten 30-0 last week by South Dakota, the fourth-ranked college-division team in the country.

"Don't think Tech isn't tough because they haven't won," Murray Coach Bill Furgerson advises. "We saw them play Western Carolina and you can bet they're one of the best teams in the OVC. That loss to South Dakota was a bit of a fluke. Tech had five turnovers in the first half and South Dakota is a fine team that took advantage of them to put the game out of reach.

"Tech's not a flashy team," Fugerson continued, "but they're solid and basic and they're apt to control the ball most of a quarter on a drive. They ran far more plays than Western Carolina when they tried them and that, plus a strong defense, held Carolina to only 10 points. And fans who saw Carolina's high - powered offense in action here last Saturday, know that was no little feat."

Although Tech had some substantial graduation losses from last year's team which was 10-1 during the regular season and played in the Grantland Rice Bowl, the Golden Eagles have some fine veterans back, including all-conference defensivee end Elois Grooms, center Jim Dorsey, and offensive tackle Mike Defino. Last year's starting quarterback,

Tech has averaged 238 yards total offense in its two games. It's defensive average is 309. Murray and Western Caroline each had 360 yards total offense last Saturday.

Tech is passing considerably more this season than last and Ledford has completed 13 of 37 for 142 yards. Big tight end David Quay has caught 8 of Ledford's passes and freshman split end Ralph Rogers is being touted by Coach Don Wade as one of the most promising receivers in the country. Halfback Dickie Fulton is the leading Tech rusher with 85 yards in 25 carries.

Murray quarterback Tom Pandolfi, named the OVC's offensive player of the week for his fine game against Western Carolina, has completed 16 of 28 passes for 220 yards and a touchdown. Wide receiver Scotty Crump has caught 7 of his tosses and tight end Bill Farrell 5. Pandolfi leads the OVC in total offense and Crump leads in receiving.

Tailback Don Clayton of Malden, Mo., is the leading Racer rusher with 111 yards in 19 carries.

The Racers came out of the Western Carolina game without injury and will be near full strength for Tech.

Tech has beaten Murrar four straight games since Murray won 19-0 in 1968. The Eagles won 10-0 last year and lead the long series between the two 20-17-1.

Kickoff Saturday will be 7:30 p.m.

SEMO looks for first

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The football Indians of Southeast Missouri State University will head south this week end with hopes of bringing back their first win of the 1973 season.

The Indians who dropped their opener 20-12 to Delta State and then lost 9-7 to Missouri Southern in a game they easily could have won, will initiate a three- game road trip in Russellville, Ark. against Arkansas Techn.

Tech, like the Indians, has been on the short end of tis first two encounters of the year.

Last year the Tribe battled the Wonder Boys to a 10-10 tie at Houck Stadium. Tech holds an edge in the series between the two schools having won four and lost one.

The Wonder Boys are struggling with inexperience in their offensive backfield as three of the four are freshmen. The only returning face in the backfield is Bill Breedlove, who rushed for 406 yards in 1972.

Indian head coach Tom Thrower is not take the freshmen lightly and says that from the films he has seen they look like outstanding prospects.

The Indians chief also points out that the Wonder Boy defensive unit, with five members back from last year, will be the most experienced of the two Tech units.

He commented, "Their defensive team has been fairly tough up to now. They are a good hitting unit and they have good pursuit."

As for the type of game to expect, Thrower recalled, "Everytime we've played them we have had a real tough game."

Thrower said he will make a few changes in the Indian line-up before Saturday and noted,"We will change our offensive attack a bit to take advantage of the things we do well."

The coach pointed out that "on defense we are in the process of finding out who our best personnel are."

Injurywise the Tribe is in good shape as the only starter out of action is Mike Olson. Olson, a sophomore from Chesterfield, Mo., has stretched ligaments in his knee and will not see action at his usual spot on the Indian offensive line.

After Saturday's 7:30 p.m. game with Tech, Southeast Missouri State will have only one more non-league encounter before opening up the MIAA season with Southwest Missouri State Oct. 6.

Sat. NHF day

Between 15 and 20 million Americans are expected to pass up football in favor of conservation this Saturday, and take part in the thousands of National Hunting and Fishing Day observances planned across the nation. Not since Earth Day will so many people unite in the cause of conservation.

President Nixon, by official proclamation, has set Saturday as the second annual National Hunting and Fishing Day. The states are unanimous in their support and hundreds of mayors have issued corresponding city proclamations.

Over 4 million people took part in 3,000 NHF Day observances in 1972. That participation is expected to be four to five times as great this year, with programs scheduled for sportsmen's clubs, wildlife refuges, shopping centers, malls, high schools, colleges, fish hatcheries, libraries, and an amazing variety of other locations.

The purpose of NHF Day is to inform the public about the wide range of efforts sportsmen are making in the field of conservation (they provide conservation with over $250 million annually) and to involve the public in the environmental needs of their own community.

Activities will vary according to locale, but most will include conservation displays plus a variety of "skill centers" in outdoor sports such as camping, fishing, archery, and shooting. State conservation agencies will participate in most programs and a number of clubs will include activities on the Johnny Horizon "Clean Up America" program. Affiliates of the National Wildlife Federation, Sierra Club, Audubon Society, National Rifle Association, Izaak Walton League and other groups are expected to take part at most locations.

Many programs will take place at sportsmen's clubs. Others will be held at shopping centers and malls to increase public participation. Hundreds of shopping centers in New York, New Jersey, Colorado, Missouri, Florida and other states will sponsor NHF Day displays.

Activities are also scheduled at a museum in Alaska, a large convention hotel in New Hampshire, an airport in upstate New York. In New York City, Abercrombie & Fitch, will hold a program on the roof of their Madison Avenue Store.

In signing his original proclamation, President Nixon said, "I urge all our citizens to join with outdoor sportsmen in the wise use of our natural resources and in insuring their proper management for the benefit of future generations." Even if it means they'll miss one afternoon of football, all those interested in practical conservation are urged to attend the program nearest them. Information on programs is available from the state conservation department, local sporting goods store or sportsmen's club.

Mural dedication begins University celebration

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University's centennial celebration will officially begin Sunday following the dedication of the Jake K. Wells mural at Kent Library.

Persons who attend the opening will receive a 12-page booklet describing and picturing the development of the 800- square foot art work from the rough sketches through the finished product.

The dedication ceremonies will begin at 3 p.m. in Kent Library. A reception in Memorial Hall will follow the program which marks the formal opening of the University's centennial celebration.

Rush H. Limbaugh Sr. of Cape Girardeau, a Southeast Missouri State alumnus who has long been prominent in professional and civic activities throughout Missouri, will be the main speaker.

The mural by Wells, head of the univesity's art department, depicts the nature and development of Southeast Missouri. The message is carried through four facets of the area's rich background -- the Mississippi River, the mineral resources, the timber resources and agriculture.

The booklet, to be distributed free to persons who attend the dedication, has a four- color cover showing a part of the finished product. Inside, it includes comments by the artist on problems involved in the mural and technical considerations as well as comments on the content of the mural.

The painting of the mural was planned as a two- year task, but almost three years had elasped when Wells put the finished touches on it in July. It is the largest project ever undertaken by Wells and is possibly the largest mural in Missouri.

The next major event in Southeast Missouri State's 100th birthday celebration will be homecoming weekend, Oct. 10-13.

Meatcutting course offered

CHARLESTON — So you can't tell a pork chop from beef liver! Or distinguish a rump roast from a porterhouse steak!

If so, you are probably in good company, but Tom Martin, head meatcutter at Charleston IGA Foodliner, is doing something about that lack of knowledge. In cooperation with the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation and his employers, Paul Barnes and Orval Shamblin, Martin is conducting a 12- week meatcutters school.

"I don't tell my students they will be expert meatcutters at the end of the 12 weeks," Martin said Monday night. "It takes three years to become what we call a journeymman meatcutter."

"All we want to do is make them familiar with the cuts of meat, where they come from on the animal, and introduce them to the techniques of meatcutting."

Hopefully, Martin said, his students will be able to tell a prospective employer that they are familiar with meat, and can get a job in which they can do the day- after- day practicing necessary to become really good butchers.

But the course is not just for those who want to work in a meat department.

"We'd be glad to have husbands, housewives — anyone who wants to learn about meatcutting," Martin said. Persons interested may contact him at the IGA Foodliner or enroll through the DAEOC Center on West Commercial Street.

Martin said the course lasts 12 weeks, and is now in its fourth week, but enrollment is still open. "In fact," he said, "I am going to urge my class to enroll for the next session two months from now. That way they'll get the practive they need."

The course is free of charge.

"We'll take anyone as long as we have room," Martin said cheerfully.

Barnes and Shamblin are donating the use of the store space, and are providing the meat for the student butchers to work on under Martin's supervision.

Engineers plan Cairo hearing

CAIRO, Ill. -- A series of four public hearings in Mississippi River towns will be held by members of the Mississippi River Commission (MRC) during the period Sept. 24-28.

The hearings are held by the Army Corps of Engineers agency to give citizens and local goernments the opportunity to discuss flood control, navigation, and related needs with the MRC.

All hearings will be aboard the M-V Mississippi, and one will be held at 8:30 a.m. Monday at Cairo.

Major Gen. Charles C. Noble, president of the MRC, says that members will also be briefed on current work programs by District engineers from Memphis, Vicksburg, and New Orleans. Additionally, they will inspect channel stabilization work in progress along the river and repairs being made to flood control works damaged by the 1973 flood.

Short causes fire

Firemen were called at 7:30 p.m. Thursday to the Keith Duncan home, 217 Kramer Drive, when an electrical short caused a fire in an oven. Firemen said the fire had been extinguished by the time they arrived.

Milk prices expected to rise

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Milk prices will jump 15 cents a gallon Oct. 1 and prices of other dairy products will zoom also, predicts Don Soetaert, general manager of Fairmont Country Club Dairy.

Milk is scarce in the east and southeast and is being shipped there from the midwest, Soetaert said Thursday in an interview. Meanwhile, milk is being hauled as far as 400 miles for the Kansas City market.

The high prices for slaughter cattle, and the high cost of feed are factors in the milk shortage.

"With the winter months coming, farmers are making decisions on whether to send cows to market for an exceptionally high price, or to continue to milk them," Soetaert said.

HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION (A.B.E.) PROGRAM

WOULD YOU LIKE TO COMPLETE HIGH SCHOOL?

The Adult and Continuing Education Division provides the opportunity for adults to complete high school. WE STRONGLY ENCOURAGE INDIVIDUALS TO COMPLETE THEIR EDUCATION, THE REGULAR HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAMS AND OBTAIN A DIPLOMA. However, we are aware that some individuals have had their formal education interrupted.

(1). An individual may complete high school by obtaining a High School Equivalence Certificate. To obtain this certificate an adult would take the General Education G.E.D. tests. We recognize that adults learn by living. To supplement that learning, we have established classes to help the adult prepare for this test.

(2). Our division also offers an adult High School Diploma Program, based on work done while in a regular High School. By evaluating transcripts, we determine the courses needed for completion. If less than six units are needed, we make a suggestion about what steps to take next.

Who is Eligible?

Anyone who is not a high school graduate and shall have attained the age which would have made it possible for him to have graduated from high school at least one year before the date of the application.

You drive into my station and I'm going to do everything I can to turn you into a lifelong buddy.

S.J. WHITMAN, TULSA, OKLAHOMA.

I run this station. And I'm getting by OK. But I've got to do better. I've got two boys I'm putting through college. And a wife I'm putting through golf lessons. And with the cost of green fees as high as they are, it would've been a lot easier for me if she took up knitting.

So when you come in here, I'm going to be very friendly. I mean, I'm not only going to wash your front window, I'm going to wash your back window and your side-view mirror.

I'm even going to wash your hands if I have to.

And if you have a DX Credit Card, you'll get special deals from DX on tires, batteries and just about everything I sell here.

Now I'm not doing these things because I'm Mr. Wonderful. I'm doing them because I have to do better. Like I say, I've got the station, the two boys in college and a wife with a pretty expensive hobby.

So try me, I can be very friendly.

Capitol parking to be reduced

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The number of parking spaces in the capitol basement will be cut by 21 to lessen a fire hazard, Robert L. James, head of the Office of Administration, said Tuesday.

There now are 84 parking spots in the basement for state employes.

The state and city fire marshals filed reports saying the large number of parked cars and high traffic through the lone entrance constituted a fire hazard.

James had said earlier that 12 parking spots would be eliminated. The latest reduction, he said, took five spaces from the governor's office and four from the legislature.

James listed these other steps taken to reduce the fire hazard:

—Restriction of the garage entrace to delivery and other service vehicles.

—Acquisition of new fire hoses and nozzles.

—Installation of fire extinguishers at clearly marked locations.

—Employment of night watchmen trained in fire prevention.

—Removal of oil deposits from the garage floor.

—Removal of chemicals from "hazardous locations."

—Acquisition of new trash containers and strict enforcement of trash removal.

Books are being recorded on microfilm not only to save space but also to preserve them. Many books are deteriorating in American libraries because publishers after 1870 began using paper made from wood pulp instead of from rag, The World Almanac notes. The paper becomes brittle with age because the wood pulp is treated with an acid.
